

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Method and apparatus for identification of chemical compounds in a sample based on differences in ion mobility, wherein the filter and detector electrodes are 5 formed radially spaced on facing substrates.